

Proposed Fare Changes

March 2014

Goals

- > Metro's goal is to provide quality transportation services
- > To do this, fares must be balanced with the cost of providing service
- > Doing so will allow us to continue to effectively serve our riders and be accountable to Los Angeles County taxpayers

Why do fares need to change now?

> Metro fares are among the lowest of any major US transit

Why do fares need to change now?

> Metro fares cover roughly $\frac{1}{4}$ of operating costs – the lowest of any major US transit agency

Why do fares need to change now?

- > Fare increases have not kept up with inflation
- > As inflation rises, fares are covering less and less of operating costs
- > Facing an operating deficit of $36 million in two years, growing to $225 million in ten years

> This is what the numbers look like:

How can the deficit be addressed?

Can Metro move funding from other sources?

- > Two million voters approved Measure R in 2008 and designated money for specific projects
- > Measure R sales tax provides capital money to expand and improve service
- > Metro is prohibited from using capital money to fill the gap

How can the deficit be addressed?

Can Metro operate more efficiently?

- > Operations have been streamlined significantly since 2010
 - > Eliminated 116 full time employees
 - > No cost of living allowances for employees
 - > Programs to increase efficiency – solar panels, recycling, new technology

How can the deficit be addressed?

Can Metro cut service to balance the budget?

- > Service cuts are counter to Metro's mission
- > Customers do not want nor deserve service cuts
- > Better to create a structure that encourages customers to ride the system they fund

How can the deficit be addressed?

Would fare revenue increase enough if fare evasion was averted?

- > Metro is proactively addressing fare evasion
- > Eliminating fare evasion could not make up the deficit
- > Financial projections include expected revenue increases from gate latching efforts

How can the deficit be addressed?

How can changing fares help?

- > Changing fares will help balance them with the cost of operating reliable service
- > Fares now cover 26% of operating costs; need to cover 33% to be sustainable

Proposed fare changes

Two options consider customers by including:

- > Gradual increases over six years to allow riders to adjust
- > Free transfers for 90 minutes from boarding instead of charging double for transfers
- > Monthly pass expanded from Metro only to Metro plus 24 additional municipal bus systems in LA County

Proposed fare changes

	Option 1	Option 2
Base fare includes free transfers within 90 minutes	X	X
Gradual increases over six years	X	X
After 2020, fares reviewed every two years	X	X
Monthly pass combined with EZ Pass in 2017	X	X
Move toward a consistent fare for Express/Silver Line	X	X
Introduce reduced off-peak fares and higher peak fares		X

> Title VI analysis shows that neither option creates disparate impacts or disproportionate burdens on Metro's minority and low-income riders

Proposed fare changes

OPTION 1	Current (no transfers)	2014 (90 mins of free transfers)	2017 (90 mins of free transfers)	2020 (90 mins of free transfers)
Base fare	$1.50	$1.75	$2.00	$2.25
Senior/ Disabled	Peak: 55¢ Off-Peak: 25¢	Peak: 75¢ Off-Peak: 35¢	Peak: 90¢ Off-Peak: 50¢	Peak: $1.10 Off-Peak: 70¢
Student	$1.00	$1.25	$1.50	$1.75
Day Pass	$5.00	$7.00	$8.00	$9.00
Monthly Pass	$75.00	$100.00	$120.00*	$135.00*

*EZ Pass combines with monthly pass in 2017

See proposal handout for full details

Proposed fare changes

OPTION 2	Current (no transfers)	2014 (90 mins of free transfers)	2017 (90 mins of free transfers)	2020 (90 mins of free transfers)
Base fare	$1.50	Peak: $2.25 Off-Peak: $1.50	Peak: $2.75 Off-Peak: $1.75	Peak: $3.25 Off-Peak: $2.00
Senior/ Disabled	Peak: 55¢ Off-Peak: 25¢	Peak: 90¢ Off-Peak: 50¢	Peak: $1.00 Off-Peak: 55¢	Peak: $1.10 Off-Peak: 60¢
Student	$1.00	$1.25	$1.50	$1.75
Day Pass	$5.00	$9.00	$11.00	$13.00
Monthly Pass	$75.00	$125.00	$150.00*	$180.00*

*EZ Pass combines with monthly pass in 2017

 See proposal handout for full details

Submit comments

> Mail:

Metro

One Gateway Plaza, MS 99-3-1

Los Angeles, CA 90012

Attn: Michele Jackson

> Phone: 213.922.4600

> Email: publichearing@metro.net

> Online comment form at metro.net/newfares

> Attend Fare Forums or the March 29 hearing

Metro