Go511 for Important Transportation Updates

Most Southern California transit providers have remained in service, providing vital transportation to essential workers. Temporary adjustments—including changing or consolidating routes, switching to back door boarding, and in some cases waiving fares—are being made to ensure safety of both passengers and transit workers.

A segment of the 511 network that provides free traveler information online at go511.com is posting the latest transportation information changes due to Coronavirus (COVID-19). This includes updates on freeways, express lanes and specific transit providers in Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside and Ventura counties.

3 Resources for Better Biking

National Bike Month, usually held in May, is postponed to September this year, yet biking is still important method of transportation for essential travel that allows for social distancing.

- 1) If you don't have a bike, pick one up and drop it off at one of the many 24-hour self-serve kiosks for an hourly fee. For details on Metro Bike Share locations, as well as other bike shares (including private firms), visit metro.net/bikeshare.
- 2) Need a "bike friendly" route? There are apps that give preference to bike lanes and wider streets using mapmyride.com, bikemap.net, strava.com—there are plenty of free bike routing apps available.
- 3) Get information on bike resources such as biking classes, bike parking, bike maps, incentives offered to bicyclists and more:
